

Getting Ready

What might a hundredths grid look like if each square were subdivided into 10 equal parts? How many parts would the new grid have?

What is a fraction name for the smallest part of this new grid? What is a decimal name for it?

